

"Court fame but as a spur to brave and honest deeds; and who despises fame will soon renounce the virtues that deserve it."—Mallet.

Honolulu Star-Bulletin

SPORTS, CLASSIFIED AND SHIPPING SECTION

HONOLULU, TERRITORY OF HAWAII, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1916.

NINE

COMES TO HAWAII TO BE AWAY FROM LABOR TROUBLES

Head of Great Coal Company
Takes Trip to Isles of Peace
From "Smoky City"

In one broad jump of over 5000 miles one of the wealthiest and influential capitalists of Pennsylvania came out of the smoke clouds of Pittsburgh to Honolulu, via the Matsucia, for the most unique reason yet offered by visitors, i. e., to get away from labor difficulties.

The first-time visitor is George W. Schleuderberg, president of the Pennsylvania Coal Company, said to be the largest in the world. Schleuderberg has taken his abode at the Royal Hawaiian hotel and went to Hilo in the Matsucia Thursday night. He likes Honolulu because he has found that here he can forget everything and live only for the joy of it.

Speaking in round numbers, the cares and turmoil of 75 coal mines from which 25,000 miners are taking 100,000 tons of coal a day rests largely on Schleuderberg's shoulders and labor conditions among his employees have been anything but pleasant this summer, he says.

Averse to Interviews

Schleuderberg is one of the many Pennsylvania people who come to Honolulu with the proud boast that they have never been interviewed, do not believe in it and never will. The coal magnate admitted, however, that there was something in the air here and in the hospitableness of the people that battered down considerable of a visitor's reserve.

"I was surprised to find on the way across the Pacific," he laughed, "that I had a tendency to open up to an acquaintance of five minutes to tell him the history of my life, while at home it could not have been jarred out of me with a 40-centimeter gun."

Why he had not come to Hawaii sooner to find real and healthful rest, Schleuderberg did not know. He has heard about Hawaiian pleasures and comforts for some time but has always considered the jump from Pittsburgh to Honolulu a little too long for him.

"I do not know how much the people at home have heard of this country," he declared, "but you can bet it will be a whole lot more when I get home."

The Pittsburgh visitor's son is a director of the Westinghouse Electric Company of Pittsburgh, the business of which has been enormously increased by the war. Coal, however, has continued at about the same pace in spite of the great demand for fuel because there are no boats in which to ship it to Europe or to South America to realize the large profits. Politics are the same in Pennsylvania as they are here, says the visitor; that is, mixed and uncertain.

IN WAR ARENA

ITALIANS TAKE MANY AUSTRIAN PRISONERS

PARIS, France, Oct. 12.—More than 30,000 Austrians have been taken prisoners by the Italians since they began the latest drive against Trieste, Oct. 6, and the offensive in the direction of the Adriatic seaport is continuing with unabated vigor and success, according to the reports from Rome last night. The total figures are given as 30,881 by the Italian general staff.

Yesterday the Latin troops took a number of additional points of vantage on their road to Trieste and 1711 prisoners, while repulsing heavy attacks launched by the Austrians against Italian positions on the Carso plateau. British gain in Macedonia.

The British troops in Macedonia are still pressing forward without let-up in their attacks upon the Bulgarian-German positions east of the Struma river. Last night London reported the fall of the town of Brod.

North of the Somme the troops under Sir Douglas Haig attacked the line held by Gen. von Buelow, between Lesars and Guedecourt, and drove the Germans back. Berlin officially admits this loss, and at the same time reports the loss of ground north of Thiépval.

VENIZELAS AT HEAD OF STRONG GREEK REVOLT

LONDON, Eng., Oct. 12.—The revolutionists of Greece are determined to attack the "troops of the perfidious Ferdinand" of Bulgaria, and are declaring that they will advance by themselves, even if they have to leave "Athens and Old Greece" behind.

In a statement issued last night by former Premier Venizelos, who is now at Saloniki, he said that he is about to place himself at the head of the movement "which is bound to succeed." The statement is contained in a despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Agency, from its Saloniki correspondent.

"I have adhered to the revolutionary movement, and am prepared to accept mobilization," which will be declared shortly. "The island of Mytilene is also solid in its support of the revolution. The constitution must be revised, even if we have to march without Athens and Old Greece. We intend to march against Ferdinand and his treacherous troops."

SUGAR CHEMISTS AND BOILERS GATHER IN 13TH ANNUAL CONVENTION

Men Whose Skill And Enterprise Help Industry's Growth Discuss Mutual Problems

BEACH RESORTS CARE FOR EXTRA RUSH OF GUESTS

Two Passenger Liners Spend
Night in Harbor; Transport
Brings Other Visitors

Gaiety was in the air on Waikiki Beach last night. One of the largest and liveliest crowds seen on a week day evening at the beach kept the bellboys at the Moana Hotel on the jump for an hour or more and the new entertainer at Heinie's Tavern did overtime.

Chief Clerk Philip Poirier of the Moana Hotel characterized the commotion of many unexpected guests as a flurry before the storm which would start with the arrival of the Great Northern next month and remarked that the help was getting in practice for the big business.

For the first time in several trips the Niagara, from Australia, stayed in Honolulu all night and a large portion of its passengers took quarters at the beach, most of them going on this morning, but a few stopping over.

Baggage streamed into hotels for an hour; there were bags and steamer rugs and trunks by the score. And all the time clerks were bombarded with excited questions as "When do the shops open?" "Will we be able to see the Aquarium?" "How early can we get breakfast?" and so on.

There seemed to be the greatest gratification that the Niagara had stopped all night and considerable disappointment that she would not remain the next day, too.

Adding to the jollity and confusion of the evening a few passengers from the Orient on the Persia Maru, which also stayed all night and a number of new arrivals on the transport attended the Moana dance.

A block Waikiki, at Heinie's, was an exceptionally large crowd for a week night and up to midnight the one-night visitors, increased in numbers by a goodly representation of town folk, strolled back and forth from Heinie's to the Moana.

As an added attraction Miss Jewel Estes made her debut to Honolulu at Heinie's, where she has been signed for a two months' stay. Miss Estes comes recently from the Wilson Cafe, where she was a popular attraction.

Manager Sims was pleased with the appreciation shown the new entertainer by the guests last night.

William J. Coelho, clerk in the land office, has compiled a big card of "handy tables" to be used in rapid calculation of land areas. Coelho has had the tables printed and a sample is now in use by the land department.

According to their title the tables are to be used in converting acres into square feet, rods or perches; poles into acres, and square feet, chains and links into other forms.

Sugar chemists in convention at the Library of Hawaii, where they are working out problems of sugar production and exchanging views.

Among those present at the meetings are H. P. Agee, director of the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association; W. P. Alexander, Honolulu; P. W. Alston, Wailuku; L. E. Arnold, Honolulu; C. H. W. Barnhardt, Honolulu; H. D. Beveridge, Papaikou; J. E. Biela, Kakaia; C. E. Barter, Haiku; A. Brodie, Kakaia; C. Bodde, Aiea; P. S. Burgess, H. S. P. A.; W. H. Crozier, Papaikou; S. Dos, Paia; A. de Bretteville, Lihue; Dr. A. L. Dean, Honolulu; N. F. Deerp, Jababo, Cuba; R. T. Birmingham, Honolulu; J. W. Donah, Kakaia; W. F. Duker, Wainaku; Wm. Ebeling, Makaweli; C. F. Eckart, Oahu; E. W. Ellis, Honolulu; J. P. Foster, Paia; A. Fries, Lahaina; A. Gartley, Honolulu; G. Giacomelli, Oahu; A. Grandhomme, Honouapou; F. E. Greenfield, Canlubang, P. I.; H. F. Hoessfield, Kilauea; G. H. Holden, Makaweli; R. R. Hind, Honolulu; L. W. Howard, Wailuku; C. C. James, Honolulu; M. O. Johnson, Honolulu; A. E. Jordan, Honolulu; K. W. Kinney, Kakaia; A. Krofft, Waipahu; L. D. Larsen, Honolulu (H. S. P. A.); J. F. Lino, Puhala; J. R. Lougher, Niuli; Wm. Lougher, Puunene; N. Marshall, Honolulu; W. G. Marshall, Haku; P. Messchaert, Waipahu; J. J. Muller, Pepeekeo; W. R. McAlle, Honolulu; H. M. McCance, Honolulu; J. Napier, Jr., Honolulu; N. P. Naquin, Honolulu; D. F. Nicholson, Paia; Dr. R. S. Norris, Honolulu; K. E. Okamoto, Honolulu; W. K. Orth, Koloa; F. N. Peterson, Wailuku; H. Pomerantz, Paia; H. Z. Pratt, Honolulu; J. H. Pratt, Puunene; G. F. Renton, Jr., Ewa; H. W. Robbins, Elele; H. E. Savage, Honolulu; A. M. Schmidt, Waipahu; J. Schulmeister, Waiahae; H. Schultz, Lihue; Wm. Seaby, Puunene; G. W. Smith, Honolulu; K. M. Smith, Puunene; J. A. Verret, Honolulu; C. G. W. Watson, Waipahu; H. S. Walker, Honolulu; Wm. Weinrich, Honolulu; E. T. Westly, Paauhau; H. E. Wilson, Paia; G. R. Haddock, Honolulu; G. Hutchinson, Honolulu; C. Richter, Wailuku; E. C. Zitkowski, Wailuku; J. C. T. Troup, Kohala; R. J. Richmond, Hawaii; R. S. Thurston, Honolulu; and J. S. B. Pratt, Jr., Honolulu.

PRESIDENT, IN SLANGY MOOD, RAPS HUGHES

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 13.—"Talking through one's hat ought by this time to be a dead industry," said President Wilson in the course of his address yesterday at noon to a convention of good roads advocates and farmers. The convention was a non-partisan one and the president announced that his address was to be also non-partisan. Partisan speeches, he said, were too frequently without substantial reason back of the words, the speakers talking "through their hats."

Public speakers should be compelled to know what they are talking about and be able to give proof of the substance of their praise or criticisms, he said. "In other words," declared the president, "public speakers either ought to put up or shut up."

HARRISON CONFIRMS FILIPINO LEGISLATORS

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)
MANILA, P. I., Oct. 13.—Governor Harrison yesterday confirmed the appointment of representatives named by the Moros and other tribes which do not profess Christianity, as well as those Christian tribes entitled to representation in both house and senate under the new organic act, which was passed by the last Congress of the United States.

That act provided that representatives of the tribes who are unable to vote shall be appointed to both houses of the Philippine legislature by the consent of the governor. This gives the Filipinos the control of the senate.

They already had control of the house. The first congress under the new law will convene Monday.

ONE KILLED, MANY HURT IN OIL STRIKERS' RIOT

BAYONNE, N. J., Oct. 13.—One person was killed and at least 20 were wounded, two of them fatally, during fighting between the strikers and the police yesterday.

Six sheds overlooking the refineries have been burned by the strikers.

Kakalau; A. Krofft, Waipahu; L. D. Larsen, Honolulu (H. S. P. A.); J. F. Lino, Puhala; J. R. Lougher, Niuli; Wm. Lougher, Puunene; N. Marshall, Honolulu; W. G. Marshall, Haku; P. Messchaert, Waipahu; J. J. Muller, Pepeekeo; W. R. McAlle, Honolulu; H. M. McCance, Honolulu; J. Napier, Jr., Honolulu; N. P. Naquin, Honolulu; D. F. Nicholson, Paia; Dr. R. S. Norris, Honolulu; K. E. Okamoto, Honolulu; W. K. Orth, Koloa; F. N. Peterson, Wailuku; H. Pomerantz, Paia; H. Z. Pratt, Honolulu; J. H. Pratt, Puunene; G. F. Renton, Jr., Ewa; H. W. Robbins, Elele; H. E. Savage, Honolulu; A. M. Schmidt, Waipahu; J. Schulmeister, Waiahae; H. Schultz, Lihue; Wm. Seaby, Puunene; G. W. Smith, Honolulu; K. M. Smith, Puunene; J. A. Verret, Honolulu; C. G. W. Watson, Waipahu; H. S. Walker, Honolulu; Wm. Weinrich, Honolulu; E. T. Westly, Paauhau; H. E. Wilson, Paia; G. R. Haddock, Honolulu; G. Hutchinson, Honolulu; C. Richter, Wailuku; E. C. Zitkowski, Wailuku; J. C. T. Troup, Kohala; R. J. Richmond, Hawaii; R. S. Thurston, Honolulu; and J. S. B. Pratt, Jr., Honolulu.

MAINLAND FOLK BY DOZENS ASK ABOUT ISLANDS

More than a dozen people in the last mail writing to the governor for information as to employment in the islands is the mute testimony of Hawaii's growing popularity in the mainland.

"All sorts of questions are asked by the writers," says Secretary Will Wayne of the missives. "Some want to know about the climate, some about the land, some about the people, and some about the food. Most all of them ask about the opportunity for employment."

One inquirer piled so many questions into his letter that the secretary was forced to write and request him to confine himself more specifically to just what information he desired. Wayne says it would have taken a book to have answered all the questions properly and he was looking around for something of the library of universal knowledge style when he decided to write the letter. One young lady asked to be put wise on "secretarial" jobs.

NAVY TRANSFERS PUT CAPT. LONG IN COMMAND OF U. S. S. CONNECTICUT

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 13.—The navy department yesterday issued orders sending Capt. Long to the command of the battleship Connecticut, relieving Capt. Durrell, who is transferred to the battleship Minnesota. The commander of that vessel, Capt. Morgan, has been assigned to duty with the naval war college at Newport, R. I.

HETTY GREEN'S SON SPENDS HALF MILLION ON YACHT

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)
MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 13.—Colonel Green, son of the late Hetty Green, yesterday closed a deal for the purchase of the steamer United States, formerly owned by the Crosby line. The price paid for the vessel is said to have been $500,000. Colonel Green intends to use the ship as a private yacht after refitting her to meet his needs.

AMBROSE PATTERSON'S SECOND EXHIBITION IS TRIBUTE TO HIS ABILITY WITH BRUSH

Artist's Eye for Color and Ability to Seize Upon Essentials in Composition Proved in Display—Many Canvases, Oil and Pastel, Show Industry and Skill

Hawaii seen through the eyes of a painter who revels in color, movement, crowds and types, is on display this week and next at the studio of Ambrose Patterson, in Honolulu's new habitation of artists, the old Allen premises between Alakea and Richards streets, north of King.

And not only is the Hawaii of color and type here shown on canvases, but the Hawaii of magic landscapes which charm the eye and fascinate the senses—the Hawaii of still, dawn-gray mornings along the beaches, of cloud-wrapped summits, of twilight vistas. Oil and pastel are the media used upon such varying subjects that at first casual glance every method of treatment in each appears to differ from the other, and yet a closer study reveals the same hand, the same conception.

This is Mr. Patterson's second exhibition since his arrival less than a year ago from Australia. It was the criticism in these columns concerning the first that some of his canvases appeared to need more deliberate study and workmanship. No such criticism can be passed upon the present display; and since from the first his painting has been marked by much warmth of appreciation for local color, and by no inconsiderable skill in seizing upon the essentials in composition, the pictures now shown represent a great advance in average quality over the first. Not that he could not at that time do so well, but that since then he has had more time to commune with his subjects in varying moods, to search out their secrets, and to get more solid painting into his pictorial themes.

An artist of rather unusual industry, he has covered a vast amount of ground, virtually all close to Honolulu, to secure the result shown at his studio. Much of the canvases are frankly impressionistic, one or two bordering on the futurist, but not the ultra-bizarre type which is the despair of many critics and the laughter of laymen.

Mentioning separate canvases in this showing of 42, it is difficult to do justice to the impression of general excellence one gets in glancing around the well-filled walls of his studio; but some of his typical paintings may be very briefly referred to.

"Aala Lane" is a bit of everyday Honolulu, with its vivid, pulsing life, color and gaiety—yes, and with its hot, sun-baked, dusty street and odoriferous atmosphere of "Chinatown."

"Hula Impromptu," a scene in a great, high-ceilinged room of a country home, dimly lit by smoky lamps, with a conglomerate mass of "haole" guests and Hawaiians around the dark zone and in the lighted center a fat Hawaiian woman swaying to the strains of hula music. This is not the accepted version of a hula performer and her audience, but it is exactly what it represents—a hula got up impromptu in the spirit of frolic.

"Fantasy" is one of the most striking of his offerings. It is a portrait-conception of Miss Edith Williams in futuristic costume, and in his treatment the artist has carried the fantasy note to the picture-frame itself, with a strange, bewildering mingling of fact and fancy, both in design and color.

The "Lantern Festival, 1916," was on view in the first exhibition and the favorable comment upon it then may be recalled. This is another of the garish, lighted streets, in the full tide of a Japanese celebration.

"Maunakea Street" is another of his cross-sections of Honolulu life—a bit poured from the melting-pot. Here the street scene is given a touch of contrast with the green, wind-swept, serene hills in the background, rising behind the city.

"Sunset from Pacific Heights" is a play of color in the west, an almost formless phenomenon of nature.

Pastels are excellent. The pastels furnish the most welcome surprise to Mr. Patterson's admirers, since little or nothing in the first exhibition forecast the ability and instinct for lovely nature here shown.

"Sunset at Kaena Point" is noteworthy, and excellent treatment of white sands and gray-green, shallow water is evinced in "Kaiaua."

An excellent marine view is "From Diamond Head," in which special attention should be called to the instinctively fine handling of the sea as it purples into the distance.

Mr. Patterson has many other canvases which should be seen. They are hung with discriminating care, and either by daylight or the indirect electric illumination of the studio are well displayed.

Invitations have been sent to a large number of Honoluluans to visit the studio any day this week from 4 to 10 p. m., and the artist expects to continue the exhibition all next week. As evidence that he is winning an audience, a number of the pictures have already been spoken for and it is good to know that most will be hung in Honolulu homes.

Subjects

The canvases on exhibition are:
Fantasy.
Lantern Festival, 1916.
Hula Impromptu.
Aala Lane, in Palama.
Moonrise from Peninsula. (Loaned by Mr. C. Montague Cooke, Jr.)
Punchbowl.
Mountain Tons.
Poinciana Regia.
Kaiaua from Paia.
Old Hawaiian Houses.
Waves, Waialua.
In Honolulu.
Sky and Coast, Maui.
Palms, Nocturn.
Sunset from Pacific Heights.
On the Beach (Waianae in distance).
Jacaranda.
Kaena Point.
Waialua.
Mountains and Harbor from Peninsula.
Maunakea Street (reserved).
Pearl Harbor.
Kaiaua.
Street Scene.
Lale Beach.
Waves, Lale.
From Diamond Head.
Maunakea Street Looking Towards Harbor.
Marine Evening.
Koko Head.

ATLANTIC LINERS BRAVE DANGERS OF DIVER MENACE

British and Danish Ships Leave
For Europe With Many Passengers

(Associated Press by Cable)
NEW YORK, N. Y., Oct. 13.—During the German submarines, which may be lying in wait for them outside the three-mile limit, several British steamers sailed from this port last night, including the giant liner Adriatic, the 9000-ton Minnehaha and the big freighter Pannonia. All slipped away without lights.

The Adriatic carried a list of 355 passengers, included among whom are six Americans. The liner also carries a huge quantity of munitions, her whole cargo of 18,000 tons being made up of war supplies for the Allies.

Slipped Down Patrolled Lane
Her departure from port was preceded by that of the Pannonia and the Minnehaha. It is thought probable that none of these vessels will take the ordinary course and that all three are proceeding south within the patrolled three-mile limit, expecting to turn east when water regarded as safe is reached.

The Danish liner Hellig Olav, with 350 passengers, sailed early in the evening, taking an easterly course after she crossed the bar.

It is now definitely established that the reported sinking of the British steamer Kingston on Sunday was an error. If any such torpedo was down before a German torpedo hit the steamer, the Leyland line agents were in communication yesterday with the Kingston's captain, who reported his ship safe in port. The name of this port is not given, but it is known that the Kingston was not within a thousand miles of the raided waters on Sunday. This brings the known toll of the U-boat down to five ships.

JIM HILL'S SON AGAIN HEADS GREAT NORTHERN

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)
ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 13.—Louis J. Hill, son of J. J. Hill, the late railroad magnate of the Northwest, yesterday was reelected president of the Great Northern Railway Company. Vice-president Lindley was also reelected.

A good wife is a very great blessing. She doubles her husband's joys, and halves his sorrows; she never gets to debt, and never borrows.

St. Leger, France.
Flags and Streamers.
The Last Sunbeam.
Moonlight in Harbor.
Sunset.
Sunset, Waianae.
Palms and Beach, Waikiki.
Nuuanu Valley.
In Chinatown.
Evening.
In the Mountains.
Color Note.

"A THIRD OF A CENTURY

of actual medical experience teaches me that it is impossible to harmonize materia medica and common sense."—L. W. Edwards, M. D., D. C., Omaha, Neb.

—and so Dr. Edwards now uses nothing but Chiropractic, and gets his patients well.

F. C. MIGHTON, Chiropractor
304 Boston Bldg.

W. C. WEIRICK, Chiropractor
424 Beretania St.